Biography

Sarah Salek is an insurance coverage attorney whose practice focuses on commercial general liability and property matters.

Sarah participated in Fields Howell's Summer Associate Program in 2021 and returned to the firm full-time following her 2022 graduation from the University of Alabama School of Law. Before joining Fields Howell, Sarah gained experience with a regional law firm and with the Georgia Innocence Project. In law school, she was a member of the Dorbin Women's Association, Articles Editor for the Alabama Law Review, co-chair of the Alabama Law 2L moot court competition and member of the moot court board, member of the Bench and Bar Legal Honor Society, and she received the dean's community service and student pro bono awards.

Before attending law school, Sarah earned her undergraduate degree summa cum laude in English and Public Relations from the University of Alabama. During that time, she spent a summer studying abroad at the University of Oxford.
